

- The average Tourist Price Index (TPI) for the whole year of 2015 (138.39) decreased by 0.86% year-on-year, the first annual decline recorded since the index was first published. Notable decrease was observed in the price index of Accommodation, while price index of Food, Alcoholic Drinks & Tobacco; Entertainment & Cultural Activities; and Restaurant Services registered marked increase.
- TPI for the fourth quarter of 2015 (141.29) decreased by 3.03% year-on-year, attributable to lower charges for hotel accommodation and reduced prices of clothing.
- The TPI increased by 7.48% quarter-to-quarter. Price index of Accommodation and Clothing & Footwear went up due to rising hotel room rates during the National Day holidays, the Macao Grand Prix and Christmas holidays, as well as new arrival of winter clothing. Meanwhile, lower airfare to/from Southeast Asia drove down the price index of Transport & Communications.
